WHOLE TOWN JOINS IN BEAUTIFYING CEMETERY

Superior Judge Handles Pitch Fork—Sheriff, Clerk and Recorder Join with Leading Business Men and cut and pile Brush.

Last Tuesday the citizens of Holbrook turned out almost to a man for the purpose of removing the brush and weeds, leveling the ground and adjusting monuments and grave marks in the cemetery. The entire day was spent in the work and in the evening it looked like a different place.

This work was not left for a few paid laborers to do. Judge Sapp handled a pitch fork like an adept while Sheriff Woods and other county officials and business men used shovels as if they were accustomed to their use. The pride the citizens of this busy town take in making the cemetery a respectable looking resting place for those who have gone before, speaks well of them, as a cemetery is an index to the community it serves, and an untidy and run down cemetery is not found in a thrifty community any more than a door broken from its hinges is found on the home of a progressive and respectable citizen.

It makes no difference to the dead where they are laid to rest, but to the living at whose fire-side there is a vacant chair, it lightens their grief somewhat to know their loved ones sleep where the birds are wont to come and sing and where the hiss of the serpent is never heard.—Winslow Mail.

Pleasant Birthday Affair

On Saturday evening last Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dailey entertained in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Maida, with a delightful little supper, at the Cottage.

The long table was made especially attractive by three gorgeous cakes, the delicious birthday cake forming the center piece. A novel idea was carried out by Mrs. Dailey who had deviously prepared a delicious looking cake by frosting a large tin pan in an elaborate design, which, together with Maida's ineffectual efforts to slice the tempting triumph of the culinary art, provoked much merriment.

Covers for this jolly little supper were laid for Miss Maida Dailey, Mr. A. T. Meyers, Miss Edna Greer, Miss Brinkerhoff, Messrs. Walter McLaws, Frank Delaney, S. B. Booth, Mrs. Laura Sebring, Messrs. Will Evans and Hugh Carpenter.

Miss Maida received several beautiful presents, one of them being a pretty dress of soft white material, with blue draperies,—a gift from her mother—in which she looked very sweet.

North Primary; Lorena and Edna Black, Leon Sapp, Patten and Lloyd Paulsell, George and Chas. Thomas, Donald Riggs, Eddie, Henry and Arthur Sharp, Rosemond Pawley, May, Warren, Jack, and William Smith, Joe Woods, Fay Flanigan, Mary Zuck, Edna Garrison, Lloyd Rhoton, Minnie Wallace and Leola Hennessey.

South Primary; Salvador Baca, Nellie Lopez, Arsenia Ortega, Mary Lial, Andres and Lucario Romero, Ignacio Olguin, and Jesus Ortega.

The total enrollment for the fifth month was 125 with an average attendance of 97 per cent. In the grammar room there were 13 tardies, 11 of which belonged to Donald Rencher.

Connie and Lois Biggs were able to return to school Monday morning but Lo Cross of the 8th grade, and Myrtle Gardner of the 1st, are out with the mumps.

Mrs. R. C. Smith, Mrs. Thorwald Larson, Mrs. R. D. Greer, and Mrs. W. B. Woods were visitors of the north side rooms Friday afternoon.

The spelling contest between the 7th and 8th grade is still in favor of the 7th since they missed no words and the 8th missed 25 during the fifth month.

Euchre Club

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Garrison was the scene of a delightful little party Sunday evening, when the Euchre Club had its initial meeting. The evening was devoted to the playing of euchre, first prize for the ladies being won by Mrs. Julia Braam, and that for gentlemen by Dr. Bazell. Delicious refreshments were then served, which were thoroughly enjoyed. Those composing the Club are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Henning, Dr. and Mrs. Bazell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Richard Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Teeple, Mrs. Julia Braam, L. C. Cadwell, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Garrison. Mr. Alfred Garrison and Mrs. Meta Garrison were guests of Club Sunday evening.

Lew H. Mickey was called to Flagstaff last Friday to testify in the case of the "burnt" horses which were discovered a few weeks ago to be wearing an unidentified brand. The horses were turned back to the Indians, their rightful owners. Mr. Mickey returned the early part of the week.

The Woodruff and St. Joseph junior basket ball team played an exciting game at Woodruff last Saturday with a score of 46 to 22 in favor of the St. Joseph boys. The Woodruff and St. Joseph seniors also played each other during the day. Their score stands 21 to 6, in favor of the Woodruff team.

News of Holbrook and Vicinity

Dr. Brown of Winslow, was in town yesterday.

Tax Assessor W. F. Williams returned yesterday from an official visit to St. Joseph.

Mrs. M. E. Saxton is spending the week end at the ranch with Mr. and Mr. W. J. Adams.

Freeman Hathorn of Keams Canyon, accompanied by Mr. Thayer, a missionary, was in town last Monday.

Mrs. C. H. Jordan is entertaining Miss Jo McClanahan this week, at her home in South Holbrook. Miss McClanahan came down from Springerville Tuesday.

L. S. Heward is hauling sand from the street in front of the Brunswick hotel to his property in the north part of town, and is distributing it over the premises. A little sand on the north side of town will be appreciated, while there is an over supply on the south side. Mr. Heward is planning to build a new cottage similar to and on the lot adjoining the building erected in the early fall.

Frank McLaws was in town on Wednesday, from Snowflake.

Mrs. Julia Braam was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Henning on Sunday.

E. J. Marty and Mrs. Marty of Indian Wells, are spending a few days in Phoenix.

Floyd Hampton, of the Winslow Mail, was in town over Monday of this week.

Dr. Chas. Irby is giving a series of lectures to the students of the Normal on oral hygiene.—Coconino Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Newman and children, from Taylor, were visiting among friends in Holbrook, over the week end.

Roy Cummins and Elmer McLaws made an auto trip to St. Johns through the wind storm on Monday of last week, with Tom Phelps and party, who were returning from the Stock Growers convention in Denver. Aside from the amount of "grit" stowed away and the stinging sensation of gravel blown against their faces, the trip was uneventful.

Owing to the disagreeableness of the day designated as "clean up" for Holbrook, another call is being issued and Tuesday, February 24th, is the day named for a general clean up of Holbrook. Every citizen interested is urged to co-operate.

Miss Josie McLaws, of St. Joseph, is in town for a few days visiting with her sister, Mrs. Roy Cummins.

Mrs. John McLaws, who spent the past month with Mr. and Mrs. Cummins, has returned to her home in St. Joseph.

Jim Shumway, of Taylor, was in town yesterday. Mr. Shumway has served on the board of supervisors of Navajo county, and was also associated with the A. C. M. I. here at one time.

The front of the Merchants and Stock Growers bank was given a coat of paint this week, thus further improving the appearance of that depository of wealth.

Work on the bridge was delayed a few days this week on account of lumber for the flooring not arriving in time. The lumber is being brought overland from Showlow, and the bad condition of the roads between Showlow and Snowflake is responsible for the delay. The steel spans have been put in place and the bridge is expected to be completed by tomorrow noon. E. N. Oden, of the El Paso Bridge and Iron company, who has this contract, will go to Globe from here, where he will build a bridge.

L. S. Heward visited his daughter, Rilla, in St. Johns last week. Miss Heward is a student of the St. Johns academy.

BORN Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock, to Mrs. Dave Morgan a fine baby boy. All concerned are doing well,—even the father.

Bert Colter, of Springerville, who has been attending the National Stock Growers convention in Denver, is in town today enroute home.

Prof. McOmie, of the experimental station of the University of Tucson, passed through Holbrook today enroute to Snowflake, where is to deliver a series of lectures.

Jim Flake, prominent cowman of Snowflake, was in town on Wednesday, transacting business and calling on his friends, among them being Judge and Mrs. Sapp.

Harry Bryan, a former resident of this section, but more recently of Durango, Colorado, arrived in Holbrook last night from Winslow. Mr. Bryan drove a Ford across from Durango and reports a pleasant journey. He expects to engage in the cattle business with John Hall, at Pine-dale about the first of March.

NEWSY NOTES FROM WINSLOW

At a meeting of the town council last Wednesday night, an ordinance was proposed forcing building of brick flues in all residence or other buildings where stoves are used, instead of having stove pipes run through the roof. Mayor LaPrade said that such an ordinance now existed. The mayor will now get busy and do some flue building as he is among those following the unsafe stove pipe practice.

The time for the city election is drawing near and prospective candidates are plentiful. As yet, however, there no definite aspirants except Mayor LaPrade, who again seeks the mayorship.

Good roads was the subject under discussion at the meeting of the Commercial club Wednesday night, and the secretary was instructed to write to the board of supervisors, demanding that a portion of the road money be spent near Winslow. The probability of building a bridge across the river west of town, was also discussed.

George Hubbard will start the work of a two-story building in a short time, west of the Mail office. The building is to be used for a store.

The Price She Paid

The "Price She Paid," the latest sensational dramatized offering of the east, will be seen at the Pastime on February 25th. Reports of the play have come from many cities in which it has been presented and without exception the verdict is unanimous that it is one of the greatest as well as one of the most absorbing plays ever witnessed in this country.

In many plays the struggle of honest girls has been depicted, and much has been made of the dramatic possibilities that surround a young girl fighting for her virtue. Never before has the story been so forcibly presented or daintily told.

Scenically "The Price She Paid" is a marvelous production, and the fact that the cast has been carefully selected from the ranks of the best players is a guarantee of the exquisite manner in which the story is told.

When "The Price She Paid" was first given in New York, Augustus Thomas, the playwright said "I have never seen a better drama; the play is a theatrical gem and will last for many years to come."

The famous actress, Miss Sylvia Summers, takes the leading role.

E. E. Ball, civil engineer for the Albuquerque-Needles division of the Santa Fe railroad, was in town Tuesday on official business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Scorse are rejoicing over the arrival of a handsome boy at their home last Monday morning at 1 o'clock. He weighs nine and one half pounds. The mother and boy are doing nicely under the efficient nursing of Miss Richards.

Flake Bros., Snowflake merchants, are unloading a car of farming machinery, implements, etc., here today. The shipment is to be divided between Flake Bros. and Fred Colter, the Springerville merchant. This is large evidence of the enterprise and prosperity of the farmers in that prolific section of the Blue Sky state.

GRAND LODGE OF F. & A. M. WILL BE FETED

The general committee appointed to make arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates to the grand lodge and grand star, which convene in this city next Monday morning, will hold its final meeting this evening in Masonic temple on South Central avenue. At this time every detail pertaining to the conclave will be completed.

It is expected that many of the delegates will arrive in Phoenix Sunday and the committee appointed to meet them will be on hand at every incoming train and the visitors will be taken in charge and assigned to the rooms reserved for them. The delegates from the northern part of the state will probably not arrive until Monday morning but each train coming over the Arizona Eastern and Santa Fe will be met by committees during the four days' convention.

The Monday morning session will be given over largely to organizing but beginning with the afternoon session the regular work of the different lodges will begin. For each day and evening entertainment has been provided for the visitors. This will be the first time for a number of years that the grand lodge has met in Phoenix and the Masons here mean to make the gathering a memorable one.—Gazette.

Judge Sidney Sapp, Lloyd C. Henning and L. D. Divilbess will represent Chaldean Lodge No. 6, at the above mentioned convention, and will leave Holbrook on Sunday, for Phoenix.

An Enjoyable Party

On Wednesday evening at the Central hotel, Miss Saxton and Miss Martha Saxton entertained with an enjoyable card party. Refreshments were served during the evening, consisting of fruit, cake, sandwiches, and a delicious beverage. Besides the hostesses, Miss Edna Greer, Messrs. B. B. Neel, Frank Delaney and A. T. Meyers were present.

Relief Society Entertained

Mrs. John Flanigan, assisted by Mrs. Ellen C. Smith, delightfully entertained the ladies of the Relief Society, at her home in West Holbrook, last Thursday afternoon. Music and games were features of the afternoon's entertainment, and the delicious refreshments consisted of salads, sandwiches, nuts and chocolate. On every fifth Thursday of the month the Relief society enjoys one of these delightful social affairs, being entertained by the members in turn.

M. Michelson, the monument dealer of Snowflake, was a business visitor here yesterday.

Rev. Geo. Marx, of Winslow, was in Holbrook, conducting his usual monthly service, at the home of Mrs. Garcia, last Monday evening. Father Marx also officiated at early mass on Tuesday morning.

Judge and Mrs. Sidney Sapp entertained the County Sunday school delegates at dinner on Tuesday evening last, laying covers for Rev. W. C. Merritt, of Los Angeles, Rev. C. S. Carter, Mrs. Christie and Rev. Ross, of Winslow, and Miss Maud Dawson.
